

The Gold Bullion Dealer Check List

Questions to ask a Gold Bullion Dealer

	Do they specialize in bullion bars and coins? You are not looking for a dealer in historic or collectible coins (this is a completely different market).
	Can they supply gold bullion and coins approved for a gold self-directed IRA? (not all bullion and coins are approved by the IRS).
	Do they have a dedicated team to manage the set-up of a gold IRA for you? You want just one point of contact to help you with your IRA rollover.
	Do they have they good standing with the following online business monitoring services? <ul style="list-style-type: none"><li>- A Current A+ rating with the Better Business Bureau?</li><li>- Consistent 5-star customer reviews at Trustlink.org?</li><li>- A "AAA" rating with the Business Consumer Alliance?</li></ul>
	Can the bullion dealer organize segregated, allocated storage for your gold with a globally recognized bullion security company? You need to know your gold is safe.

The Gold Bullion Dealer Check List

Questions to ask a Gold Bullion Dealer

	How much is the annual fee for gold bullion storage and your gold account administration? Make sure fees are not excessive (no more than 2.5% of the account value).
	Are the fees flat rate or scaled? Scaled fees mean you pay more if you store more gold. Look for flat rate fees for the best value.
	Does the bullion dealer offer to pay your first year's fees for both the administration of your gold IRA and the storage of your bullion?
	Can the bullion dealer also buy silver, platinum and palladium precious metals for your IRA?
	Once your account is set up, how quickly can your gold be delivered? Do not accept that it will take over a month to organize delivery. In some cases, delivery is possible within 7 - 14 days.

The Gold Bullion Dealer Check List

Your Notes: